

Would you like to know how to Beat 9 out of 10 fund managers?

In the past 15-years fund performance has failed...

92.2 percent of large-cap managers failed to beat their benchmark, while the number was 95.4 percent for mid-caps and 93.2 percent for small-caps.

Account size and type do not matter. These steps can be implemented in any investment account.

There are 4 main steps to beating the 90% of fund managers consistently.

Step 1: Market Benchmark

If you are trying to beat a specific benchmark then why not invest in that benchmark. Most large cap fund managers gauge their performance against the S&P 500 index. If your fund's performance is not beating the S&P 500, then doesn't it make sense to get away from the mutual funds that charge you expensive management fees? If you simply purchased the benchmark then you are logically beating 90% of fund managers. You are not beating the 10% that outperform the market, but at least you have reduced your fees and are getting market performance.

Step 2: Know When to Invest

Big Funds have to be invested in the market at all times. They have to endure the ups and downs that the market endures. As an individual investor you do NOT have to be in the market 100% of the time. Where would your portfolio be if you side stepped the 2000 or 2008 drawdown of over 50%? There are simple tools that will show you when it is safe to invest and when to exit.

Step 3: Super Charge Your Investing

When your money is invested then you want to use the right assets that increase your reward and decrease your risk. The correct assets allow you to leverage your investment to be able to multiply your return. We suggest stock options to reduce risk. We suggest you get educated on the many methods and strategies that you can use.

Step 4: Create Income from Investments

By utilizing the proper asset types, you can create an income stream from a portion of your portfolio. This is done every day in the markets by professionals and by people like you who have taken the time to get educated on how to beat the system. Understanding how to collect income from your portfolio is critical to growth. This is not dividend strategies that return a small % each year. This is consistent week over week, month over month income.

Getting Started...

We understand that the above steps are over simplified, but they give a broad framework of what we believe is the best way for the average investor to consistently beat the market. It may seem overwhelming and a job that can only be done by a professional but we have taught thousands of people how to do this. Whether you are simply looking for better returns, more control, to create income streams from your existing portfolio... they all follow most of the steps above.
